

Bundeena local Brett Mullholland has engaged with the local music scene in various ways over the years including a stint in the Bundeena Community Band. Brett's passion for finger picking style guitar and his love of blues and roots music has led to dedicated practice and devotion to perfecting this style. Add to this Mulholland's entertaining vocals and engaging stage presence and you will find yourself toe tapping along to some really fine old style country blues.

This will be Brett Mullholland's debut performance on the Art of Living stage 2022 where his his fingerpicking skills will work their magic.